The Mentally Ill Person in Crisis: Strategic Verbal Responses

056-1205

Answering a call involving a person in a mental health crisis can be dangerous, especially if the officer has no training in crisis intervention. What should an officer do or say when responding to a call involving a person who is hallucinating, delusional, catatonic, or experiencing a psychotic episode? In such a situation, the officer's regular training in how to utilize his or her command presence could actually make the situation worse. Join us for an informative discussion of some of the behaviors an officer may encounter when dealing with an individual who is mentally ill. Common scenarios are also presented along with strategies for managing potentially violent situations involving the mentally ill.

Clandestine Meth Labs, Part 2 of 2

179-0175

Hidden, illegal drug labs produce a significant number of fires each year. Often, particularly in rural areas, the lab is discovered only after a fire occurs. These labs contain many flammable hydrocarbons and volatile organic compounds making these scenes a hazardous materials incident as well as a fire. In addition, some labs are fitted with improvised explosive devices to deter competitors, firefighters and law enforcement personnel.

Traffic Enforcement: The Principles of Speed

176-2166

Effective traffic enforcement deters violators and makes our nation's highways safer places to travel. In this program we will look at speed enforcement from the older standbys of clocking and estimation, radar units and aerial tracking.

You Make the Call, Part 2 of 2

179-0163

How did you do in Part 1? Lessons learned by experience rather than in the classroom give a more profound affect on performance in the field. Let's again go into the locker room and "You Make the Call."

SUPPORT

Calibre Presents Roll Call: Formal Protocol: Military Courtesy for Uniformed Police Personnel

057-1205

Law enforcement agencies have adopted a paramilitary approach; however, not all officers have a military background. Few police academies train and practice with recruits on how to present themselves at funerals and other special occasions. There are certain actions that uniformed officers should perform to show respect for our country and to a fallen officer. This lesson teaches basic military courtesy for use by uniformed police personnel.

HazMat Awareness, Part 4 of 8: Facility, Transportation and Placard Identification

162-0204

Hazardous Materials Awareness is required of every responder every year. This series will meet those OSHA and EPA requirements. The series consists of the video programs (also available in your choice of VHS, DVD, or CD-ROM) with lesson plans and tests to measure the student's learning. Be sure that your department trains on every segment of this national-level training.

Media Savvy, Part 2 of 2

164-0006

In Part 2 of Media Savvy, learn tips and strategies for speaking to reporters in crisis mode. Learn how to handle the media during a big incident, plus get insight on how to attract the media when you want to publicize an event such as a great community service program or a fund-raiser.

CLASSIC

Motor Vehicle Theft, Part 3: Heavy Equipment & Motorcycle Theft

888-0244

Investigating motor vehicle theft is more than just looking for stolen cars. Stealing motorcycles is a game of both fun and profit, and the theft of heavy construction and farm equipment is a multi-billion dollar a year business. In Part 3 of our Motor Vehicle Theft series we'll give you the basic tools a patrol officer needs to make positive identification of questionable motorcycles. We'll also provide the basic information required to be comfortable looking at and identifying stolen heavy equipment.

HOMELAND SECURITY

Homeland One Awareness Level—Incident Facilities for Homeland Security

947-1004

This course describes various incident facilities that are an integral part of the Incident Command System, and should be considered when putting together an Emergency Response plan for a response.
